Thank you for your feedback.

I didn't know I was supposed to look— ugh, I'm such a weird foreign loser!

AARON

No, everyone feels like that when they're the new kid. I only moved here like two years ago. Well, that's not really true. I didn't actually move here. My mom lies about our address so that I can be in the North Shore school district. Please don't tell anyone that!

CADY

No! Of course!

AARON

How'd you do on that pop quiz today? 'Cause I got an eighty-five.

MS. NORBURY

CADY

MS. NORBURY

That's the nicest thing anyone's ever said to me. And I've been married twice.

MS. NORBURY

If you break any of these rules, you can't sit with us at lunch. I mean, not just you, like, any of us. Like, if I were wearing sweatpants today, I'd have to sit over there.

REGINA

A hundred and twenty calories and forty-eight calories from fat. What percent is that?

KAREN

There's no way of knowing.

CADY

It's forty percent. Forty-eight over a hundred and twenty equals "x" over a hundred, and then you cross-multiply and get the value of "x."

GRETCHEN

Irregardless! Ex-boyfriends are off limits to friends. That's just, like, the rules of feminism.

Don't worry. I'll never tell Regina what you said.

KEVIN G

Yo, Cady, those fractions were tight.

I'm Kevin G, captain of the North Shore Mathletes. We're a very chill dope crew. Also, Ms. Norbury says we'd get twice as much funding if we had a girl. So think about joining. Because we'd like to get jackets.

Why can't I remember anything about limits? All I can think about is the fact that Aaron's here and I'm worried you might be cuter than me, because you have a really nice nose. Even though I think my eyes are better, your earrings look more expensive—Why am I even thinking about that?! This is not a competition.
